Chemical Engineering via Natural Sciences

Cambridge has so much to offer and so many opportunities. Currently I am in my first year studying the Natural Science aspect of my Chemical Engineering degree. This means I'm extremely busy going to lectures from Monday to Saturday with everything else from supervisions, practices and society meet ups in between.

There are so many different societies and clubs on offer that I barely knew where to begin. The ones that I have joined are the football team, the Assassins Guild and Chemsoc.

Currently I do not know where I want to end up, whether it be in industry or research, however, over the course of my degree and masters, I intend to find out and aim for the stars.
