Preamble

Catholic Voluntary Colleges were formerly Catholic Voluntary Aided schools, and became part of the Further Education sector in 1993 when they were designated as Further Education Institutions under section 28 of the Further and Higher Education Act 1992 ("FHE 1992"), by virtue of the Education (Designated Institutions in Further Education) Order 1993. As designated institutions in the FE sector, the Colleges remained unincorporated associations and did not become FE Corporations.

The Education (Designation of Sixth Form Colleges) (Incorporation) (England) Order 2001 provided for the governing bodies of the Catholic Sixth Form Colleges to become corporate bodies on 1st April 2001, setting out their powers and that they were, and remain, exempt charities. They also remained designated institutions within the FE sector and not FE Corporations.

The Apprenticeships, Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009 ("ASCL 2009") provided for the Secretary of State to designate, by order, specified existing designated institutions as Sixth Form College Corporations. The Initial Sixth Form Colleges Corporation Designation (England) Order 2010 designated the Catholic Voluntary Sixth Form Colleges as Sixth Form College Corporations.

The Sixth Form College Corporations (Modification of Instrument and Articles of Government) (No.2) Order 2012 modified the Instrument & Articles of the Catholic Sixth Form Colleges after agreement by each College's Trustees and the Catholic Education Service ("the CES"). Similar provisions were subsequently inserted into the FHE 1992 by the Education Act 2011 ("EA 2011").

The EA 2011 also provided for greater freedoms for Sixth Form College Corporations, many of which had already been available to the Voluntary Catholic Colleges.
