

EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AMBASSADOR SCHOOL

What it is a Junior Ambassador?

Students who carry out most of the activities to enable our college to become EPAS accredited. Young people are challenged to run activities promoting discussion, debate and activism about the issues that affect them and the EU.

Educational opportunities from the European Parliament in the UK:

As well as EPAS (European Parliament Ambassador Schools programme), the European Parliament Liaison Office in the UK offers a range of opportunities and possibilities for young people in the UK such as: Visits to Europe House, educational visits to college and Euroscola. The Euroscola programme brings together students from all over Europe for a hands-on experience of European parliamentary democracy.

What will you gain from this scheme?

It is an excellent opportunity for any students looking to get involved with Politics, Law and International Relations in University and beyond. Accreditation for the scheme will tie in to things like the 'volunteering' and 'service' aspects of Duke of Edinburgh Scheme and International Baccalaureate CAS.

To sign up: email
tim@carmel.ac.uk

For more information:
<https://epas.org.uk/register/>

"We had a lot of independence to research and I found out a lot. I feel like it's really going to help me to understand the EU and the European Parliament. Being part of the EPAS programme was really helpful to broaden my knowledge of how politics works in different countries and the EU; just a really fun scheme and I really, really enjoyed it."

-Gabi, Junior Ambassador, Channing School