One thing that I really enjoyed about studying at Carmel was the rapport that the staff built with the students.

“This relationship made it easy to stay engaged in lessons and helped develop my willingness to attend extra sessions.

Another important part of my time at Carmel was the basketball programme. Practicing almost everyday and games most weeks in a high-level division was a valuable experience that unlocked many opportunities after college for me. However, the coaching staff at the college also help you stay on top of your academics and can be a figure you can look to for advice in different situations.

Since finishing at Carmel, I went over to the States to continue playing basketball at the next level whilst studying Sport Management. This was an incredible experience that Coach Dominic helped achieve.”
