My time at Carmel has been an enjoyable and rewarding experience. Not only have I developed academically, but also personally.

“I’m currently on a gap year before starting my English degree next year. To continue my love for the subject before starting uni, I have enrolled on a short creative writing course with the Uni of Liverpool. I’ve met likeminded people and created my own set of short stories. In order to look at literature from a different perspective and to broaden my interest in theatre, I have joined the Liverpool Royal Court’s Youth Theatre for 18–25 year olds in which I am involved in script writing and production. I’ve also been tutoring English online, and am now looking for a primary school placement where I can teach English to students, who, like myself, have had their education impacted by the pandemic. I’m thoroughly enjoying my gap year and have already garnered vital new skills that I will take into university life next year.”
