During my time at Carmel College I gained invaluable skills thanks to the support of the staff.

"I have used the skills I gained at Carmel to achieve a First in my undergraduate degree and whilst working for organisations such as the NHS and United Nations.

I completed a 2-month project with the United Nations where I came up with recommendations to help tackle Rwanda's alcohol abuse issues. These recommendations were then presented to Rwanda's Ministry of Health and other governing bodies.

During the pandemic, I also volunteered in a mental health hospital. I am now completing a Forensic Psychology Master's course at Manchester Metropolitan University."
